DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restrictions

This application contains claims directed to the following patentably distinct species of the claimed invention:

- I. Claims 1 – 28 drawn to particular key generator, classified in class 380, subclass 44.
- II. Claims 29 – 32 and 37 – 41 drawn to specific data processing protection using cryptography, classified in class 713, subclass 189.
- III. Claims 33 – 36 drawn to key management with respect to key distributed between two different parties without the distribution center, classified in class 380, subclass 283.

Inventions I, II and III are distinct from each other if they are shown to be separately usable. The following cases instants:

Invention I has separate utility such as a plurality of key split generators.

Invention II has separate utility such as encrypting / decrypting one or more memory addresses of the array of encrypted memory addresses that correspond to a set of to one function and one data instance, for which access is authorized, and a second set of the at least one function and the at least one data instance, for which access is not authorized.

Invention III has separate utility such as key management with respect to key distributed between two different parties without the distribution center.

Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purpose as indicated is proper.

Applicant is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 to elect a single disclosed species for prosecution on the merits to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. Currently, no claim is deemed generic.

Applicant is advised that a reply to this requirement must include an identification of the species that is elected consonant with this requirement, and a listing of all claims readable thereon, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered nonresponsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) of the other invention.
